

Job Description

UCSF Postdoctoral Fellowship: Faculty and Staff Assistance Program. UCSF is the second largest employer in San Francisco with approximately 23,000 employees working at the University Campus and Medical Center, and FSAP is an internal Employee Assistance Program that provides individual counseling and organizational consulting services to both groups.

Since 1995, FSAP has been training postdoctoral fellows and preparing them for licensure as clinical psychologists. Our training program offers a unique opportunity for postdocs to refine their short-term counseling and coaching skills, as well as to learn specialized skills in organizational consultation and intervention. Many of our trainees go on to work in hospital and academic settings, Employee Assistance Programs (EAPs), and in private practice where they provide consultation to business and academic organizations.

Fellows function as integral members of our clinical team. Their primary duties include intake assessment, brief psychotherapy, crisis intervention, psychological first aid and critical incident debriefing, and referral services with individual clients. In addition, the trainee will learn skills specialized for EAP work, including psycho-educational presentations to the UCSF community and organizational consulting services to management. The one-year training program consists of clinical activity, didactics, supervision & mentorship, and provides 1500+ hours of supervised experience toward licensure. A stipend of $20.00 per hour, medical plan, vacation and sick leave are provided for the training year. Pre-licensure coursework is provided through online training with the exception of the substance abuse pre-licensure requirement.

How to Apply:

FSAP employs three postdoctoral fellows yearly. Fellows start on a staggered schedule, at the beginning of February, June, and October of each year. Recruitment happens twice per year. To learn more about our program, visit:
